

Dián | Vocalist & Songwriter

With a career spanning international stages and prestigious collaborations, Dián is a versatile powerhouse known for a vocal range that effortlessly bridges the gap between classic jazz, soul, and contemporary rock. A true prodigy who began her professional journey at age 7, Dián's early years in Virginia, the USVI, and Puerto Rico infused her musical DNA with a rich, poly-cultural tapestry that defines her sound today.

From her debut as a child performer alongside jazz legend Dizzy Gillespie to touring major international markets—including Japan, Thailand, and across the U.S.—Dián has cultivated a reputation as a commanding performer capable of fronting bands or captivating audiences solo. Her vocal fluency extends across both English and Spanish, making her a sought-after talent for diverse audiences and high-profile corporate activations.

Her collaborative resume reads like a hall of fame, featuring icons such as Stevie Wonder, Stanley Clarke, Chick Corea, Tito Puente, and Della Reese. Beyond the stage, Dián is an accomplished musical theatre actress, most notably recognized for her NAACP Award-winning portrayal of Sarah Vaughan in Chicago Club Rumboogie.

A masterful interpreter of song with a cover catalog exceeding 350 titles, Dián is equally prolific as a writer. She currently channels her creative energy into three distinct projects: the Irish rock outfit Dragon Parade, her electronic dance alias Sky Henry, and the sophisticated nuevo jazz project Quool. With a proven track record as a commercial brand ambassador (Remy Martin, Hennessy, Budweiser) and a current, valid passport, Dián is available for global residencies, festival circuits, and high-end engagements.
